

Adrian L. Wolfe

From his love of chocolate, to his talent as a Dentist, Adrian L. Wolfe, better known as Chief, was the best Grandpa anyone could ask for. Heaven gained a wonderful soul when he passed away the afternoon of September 1st, 2013 with his family in their home in Allenspark, Colorado.

He was in love with his wife Vera from day one. They were high school sweethearts and you could feel the power of their love whenever near them. They both did a wonderful job raising their two children (son) Chris and (daughter) Brenda and were always involved with family activities and hosting the party. Chris and his wife Shannon are the parents of Adrian's granddaughters Tana and Emily, and he stayed involved in their every move. He always had to have updates on how school was and anything new that was going on with the girls whenever he saw or spoke to them. Brenda and her husband Earl have most of the grand-pets. They live in Colorado Springs but make it up to see the family any chance they get. Chiefs' sister Linda and her husband Rollie now live Arizona, but are always a part of family celebrations and holidays. His opinionated, wise, and beautiful spirit will be carried on by his family and friends.

Colorado came into the picture after retiring from his dental practice in Carpinteria. He managed to talk his way into so many hearts in California but also around Allenspark and the Estes Park area since they moved here in 1994. Spending most of his early years of retirement working for his son it was very apparent that Adrian was not going to stop working. He was a member of the Allenspark fireboard and Area club, and helped out at the Hilltop Guild whenever called upon. He did all of this along with all the little hobbies around the house. Restoring cars and bikes, making jewelry, and if you were on his email list you know that there was a lot of time dedicated to the computer. He was also a man that loved to go hunting, fishing and go camping whenever possible.

I will forever love my Poppy and he will be missed by more than just family but by all the hearts he touch and all those faces he put smiles on. And whenever there is a tequila tonic being sipped on a toast will go out to him. From Adrian the legend himself, "It's been a great ride and know that if there is a Heaven and any of you actually make it I'll be watching for you."

From his youngest granddaughter, Emily Wolfe

Memorial Services will be held at 11:00 a.m. on Friday September 27th, the Allenspark Community Church.
